Code section 54957

54950. In enacting this chapter, the Legislature finds and declares that the public commissions, boards and councils and the other public agencies in this State exist to aid in the conduct of the people's business. It is the intent of the law that their actions be taken openly and that their deliberations be conducted openly.

The people of this State do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created.

54950.5. This chapter shall be known as the Ralph M. Brown Act.

In a recent decision, Kolter v. Commission on Professional Competence of the Los Angeles Unified School District (2009)

___ Cal.Rptr.3d ___, WL 43633, the California Court of Appeal held that the governing board ("board") of a school district may deliberate in closed session on complaints or charges brought against an employee without providing the employee with 24-hour written notice under the Ralph M. Brown Act ("Brown Act"). (Gov. Code § 54950 et seq.)

In Kolter, the board convened in closed session to consider dismissal charges against a permanent certificated employee, and initiated the process to dismiss her pursuant to Education Code section 44932 et seq. The employee did not receive any notice prior to the closed session or of the charges. After the closed session, the employee was notified of the board's intent to dismiss her and of her right to a public hearing. The employee exercised her right to a public hearing and, at hearing, argued that the proceedings should be dismissed because the board's closed session violated her rights under the Brown Act. The hearing panel ultimately dismissed the employee. The employee then filed a court action arguing that her dismissal should be overturned because the board allegedly violated the Brown Act by failing to give her 24-hour written notice of the closed session.
